

AT A GLANCE*Member Since: 2006Occupation: Retired, HVAC contractor and former owner/operator of Heating Service Company.Leadership/Volunteer: My commitment to our community extends beyond my professional life; I have served as the deacon of facilities for Stonebridge Church, worked with an at-risk youth guidance program, and coaching youth baseball.

Gary Schlotterbeck

As a current director, what accomplishments or experiences from your current term would you like members to know about?

“As I seek the opportunity to serve Corridor Energy Cooperative members for a second term, I am proud of the extensive training I completed during my first term. I have earned my Credentialed Cooperative Director (CCD) certification, the Board Leadership Certificate (BLC), and Director Gold status. This continuing education equips me with the advanced knowledge necessary to effectively lead our cooperative now and into the future.”

What do you believe is the biggest issue or opportunity facing Corridor Energy Cooperative over the next several years, and how should the board address it?

“I believe the greatest challenge facing Corridor Energy Cooperative is the rapidly increasing demand being placed on the electrical grid. However, this challenge also brings incredible opportunities. We are seeing significant residential, commercial, and industrial growth, including interest from large-load customers. To address this, the board must provide rigorous oversight and proactive strategic planning. Our focus should be on guiding the cooperative as a stable, reliable resource for the future while always keeping the needs of our members first.”

Serving as a director allows me to look out for our members' best interests. It's about more than just oversight. It's about guiding the cooperative to be a stable resource now and in the future.

